Day Dispatches.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

The Triennial Conclave Ball in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—The Triennial Committee state that to-day's trains bring a larger influx of Knights, who have timed their arrival for the grand ball, to be given this evening in the Pavilion, preparations for which have been on a grand scale. The ball will be the opening of the Conclave festivities, and from this to the end of next week, the order of events for each day, as laid down in the official programme, will be adhered to. It is the opinion of many that the Conclave Committee have made a mistake in making the ball the opening event, and that it would have been a much greater success had it not been held until next week, when all Knights coming to the Conclave would have arrived.

San Francisco News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—The Grand Grove of Druids of California, met this morning in special session to consider the endowment feature of the Order, the law governing the matter being deemed impracticable, acting as a detriment rather than a benefit to the members.

The General Grand Chapter of the United States, Order of Eastern Star, will convene in triennial session to-morrow. The Order is a side branch of Masonry, female relatives of Masons being eligible to membership. Triennial sessions of the order are usually held at the same time and place as the Triennial Conclave of Knights Templar.

Henry Toomey has obtained judgment for $5,000 against the Ocean Shore Railroad Company, which, two years ago, made such a hard struggle to obtain a franchise for an entrance in this city. Although the railroad scheme has been lying dormant, it is stated by the representative here not to be abandoned.

The Democratic State Committee appointed to take action in regard to Railroad Commissioners Carpenter and Humphreys were to have met yesterday, but only one member appeared. The member expressed his regret that a majority of the committee had apparently taken the stand to shield the two Commissioners. The opinion prevails that the committee will fail to accomplish the object of their mission.

GENERAL DISPATCHES.

The Straight Virginia Republicans Overhaul Mr. Mahone.

RICHMOND, Va., August 16.—The straight Republican Convention met to-day. A platform was adopted in favor of strict adherence to Republican principles and a protective tariff. It indorses James G. Blaine for President; condemns the action of the Administration in aiding Mahone in the repudiation of one-third of the State debt; declares that the power thus given to Mahone has been used for the persecution of life-long Republicans, and that the power given to Mahone makes him virtually President of the United States for the State of Virginia.

Litigation About Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—Samuel B. Edmondson, of St. Louis, who claimed with others an interest in a large portion of land embraced within the limits of Washington, including South Washington, and much of what is now the Capitol grounds, in the city, This property was sold by James Greenleaf to the government in fee, and Edmondson claims that Greenleaf's interest was only a lease held for 90 years, which has or is about to expire. Those who have purchased it have no fee simple title. It is understood that Edmondson is willing to settle with the present occupants and give each a good deed, on the basis of three millions for all the property involved.

Stock Prices.

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Stocks have been strong and in good demand since the opening. Prices are now 1¼ to 1¾ above last night's closing. Oregon Transcontinental, Northern Pacific and Western Union are the strongest shares. After 10:30 there was a slight pressure and a reaction took place. This was followed by a fractional rally, and this, later, by a decline which left prices one-half to seven-eighths below the highest of the morning. Western Union led the downward movement, falling from 74⅝ to 72¾.

OLD WORLD NEWS.

French Gold in Aid of the Spanish Revolutionary Movement.

LONDON, August 16.—The Times' Madrid dispatch says: It is certain that more French notes and gold have been sent to Spain recently than any previous period. There is a belief now general that funds in aid of the recent revolutionary movement were even subscribed by French Republican politicians and speculators on the Bourse.

An Appeal to Workingmen.

VIENNA, Aug. 16.—The Socialists in a pamphlet have entered an appeal to all workingmen and men of the peeple. It is signed by the executive committee and was scattered in the streets last evening. All that could be found was destroyed by the police.

OFF TO THE CONCLAVE.

Cœur de Lion Commandery Leave for San Francisco.

The following members of Cœur de Lion Commandery, No. 9, Knights Templar, left on the regular passenger train last evening for San Francisco: J. D. Bicknell, E. C., E. F. Spence, E. S., Thomas Strohm, C. G., R. R. Brown, S. W., T. J. Caystile, P. E. C. and J. W., T. J. Flannigan, Geo. Hines, J. Lazarovich, W. T. Lambie, J. Long, G. F. McClellan, H. Neideckan, N. Knickerbocker, H. S. Orme, P. E. C., J. Q. A. Stanley, John Shaffer, Isaac L. Miller, J. H. Marsh, W. D. MacMurdo, Theodore Riser, O. J. Cassin, J. T. Iaiger, B. Brundage, A. O. Collins, E. Berman, W. S. Bartlett, Albert Brown, W. H. Perry, Richard Kelley, M. W. Getchell, Henry Lyster, S. A. Tuttle, Samuel Wakely and Milton Santee.

The headquarters of the Commandery will be at Turnverein Hall, Turk street, between Hyde and Leavenworth, where they will be glad to receive their friends. In addition to the members above named a number will go to San Francisco to-morrow. Sir Knights Ward and Gibson, constituting a fruit committee, have been left behind, and will endeavor to do their share towards keeping the Conclave supplied with fresh fruit. To-day Mr. Ward will go out to Pasadena for the purpose of ascertaining how much fruit will be furnished by the orchardists of that region. Several have promised to make liberal donations. Fresh fruit of every description produced here will be shipped to the Conclave headquarters in San Francisco daily, free of cost to the visiting Knight Templar. It is desirable that Los Angeles county should make a fine display of her excellent fruit. This will awaken a spirit of inquiry among the delegates who arrived in San Francisco by the northern routes, and will be the means of taking many of them home by the southern route, via Los Angeles.

NOBODY CAN DENY.

Consumers can depend upon the NEW ENGLAND BAKING POWDER as being exactly as represented. It is Cream of Tartar and Bicarbonate of Soda of perfect purity, scientifically combined; NOTHING ELSE.

The price of the NEW ENGLAND BAKING POWDER justifies the use of the very best materials. Consumers pay a fair price for the best and get it.

It is self-evident that Baking Powders represented to be composed of the same materials as the NEW ENGLAND, and which are sold to dealers at less than the pure materials themselves are worth, cannot be pure.

The large demand for NEW ENGLAND BAKING POWDER, and consequent falling off in sales of adulterated and inferior powders, has developed a spitefulness on the part of some manufacturers and dealers. Finding that the quality of the NEW ENGLAND cannot be successfully attacked, new brands and close imitations, represented to be as good, are put on the market. With these they endeavor to tempt dealers with low prices, and thus impose on consumers.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR BALL.

Immense Attendance—Grand Success of the Affair.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 16.—The ball tendered to the Knights Templar to-night at the Pavilion was a grand success. Every effort was put forth by the Triennial Conclave Committee to make it such, and notwithstanding the fact that only a small proportion of the Knights have yet arrived, the immense attendance showed that the citizens were desirous of aiding and contributing towards the opening festivities. The immense building was transformed into a handsome ballroom, the floor covered with canvas, and the ceilings decorated with banners and flags. The whole decorations were in the form of a triple dome, the center-piece being a painting representing the infant Savior. The eastern end was covered by an immense painting, designed and painted for the occasion, representing the King of Jerusalem by Knights Templar. At the opposite was a raised dais erected for the Grand Master of the Knights Templar of the United States, Benjamin Dean, and his suite. At either side of the ball room were tiers of seats arranged for those who chose to be spectators of the scene. Outside of the ball room gardens, flower beds and fountains had been improvised, covered by a glass gallery permitting all present to indulge in a promenade. At half past seven o'clock the entrance doors were thrown open and the crowd outside were permitted to enter. From that hour up to nine o'clock music was given and then, on the entrance of the Grand Master of the United States, the ball was formally opened. Up to the present hour, midnight, dancing is going on with the greatest gusto and the scene presented in the immense building, with its Knightly decorations, is one new and striking to residents of the Pacific Coast. It is no exaggeration to say that the scene presented is one that would be impressive even if transplanted to the largest city in the world, inasmuch as it represents a larger space, greater number of people, more wealth, greater representation of country and more gaiety and adornment than has ever before been presented in any city in the world. At midnight there are over 7000 present, representing 4000 on the floor of the ball-room, and those seated looking on All Knights, with their ladies, are entitled to free entrance, but notwithstanding this, the receipts are estimated at eight thousand dollars, leaving in all probability from four thousand five hundred to five thousand dollars net profit for the Triennial Committee.

THE POSTAL TELEGRAPH.

Russell Sage Gives His Opinion About Director Mackey.

NEW YORK, August 15.—Russell Sage stated to-day, when asked what he thought of the prospects of the Postal Telegraph Co. "that this new blood won't amount to anything." He said: "I know both Mackey and Roberts. Mackey has considerable wealth and his name will go a great way in that respect. For the sake of stockholders, I hope they will fare better than did those who were in the Consolidated Virginia and California mines with him. I and several of my friends were interested in them with Mr. Mackey. The great trouble with its stockholders was that we could not see so far into stock as Mackey could, so we got left and Mackey got rich. I hope stockholders in the telegraphic scheme will be better able to see into the rock than I was into the mining scheme." "But supposing the postal company takes in the Southern merchants and bankers and the American Rapid Company also forming a new system, won't that make formidable rival?" "It might prove a rival like some we have had before. All of these have come to us, however, and have been anxious to sell out, and we have had to accommodate them so far. I don't know what course we shall take if a new arrival springs up."

Rising Stocks.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16, 3 p. m.—Stocks strong and higher. During the past hour prices at or near the best of the day. Western Union sold up to 74c., Union Pacific to 89c., St. Paul to $1.02, Canada Southern to 53c., and Central Pacific to 67⅛c. Western Union ran up to 73⅜ in the last few minutes of business hours, but prices quickly returned to 74c. on speculation. Chicago, St. Louis and Pittsburg rose to 40⅛c. Efforts to cover were made, and prices moved up to the highest to-day. The market closed very strong. The advance at the opening was caused largely by covering of shorts. After this abated, and the usual reaction from such immediate demands had been experienced, the market became comparatively dull, and from this was a revival by buying orders, not only local, but from various parts of this country and from Europe, the latter chiefly from Amsterdam and Frankfort. When Western Union was selling at the lowest point, brokers credited with Gould orders bought shares liberally, and prices recovered rapidly to 74c. The advance in this stock was the signal for a general buying movement in other active shares, and the whole list sold off at the highest point to-day.

BULLS AND BEARS.

Jay Gould, Smith, Vanderbilt & Sons Alliance.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—A report was circulated to-day to the effect that Jay Gould, Henry N. Smith and Vanderbilt & Sons had formed an alliance for the purpose of sending up stocks. The stock market during the whole day presented a natural and healthful appearance.

In Favor of Prince Victor.

The Cholera in Egypt.

ALEXANDRIA, Aug. 16.—The total number of deaths thus far from cholera among the British troops in Egypt is 125.

Duties on Opium.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16.—It is stated at the Treasury Department that by reason of the vigorous action of the Government in prosecuting opium smugglers on the Pacific Coast, the duties collected at San Francisco on opium during the last fiscal year were more than a million dollars in excess of the collections from that source during the previous year.

There is little doubt that the new Central Railroad Company means business, and the road will ere long be extended to Pasadena. A connection eventually with the California Southern at San Bernardino would not surprise many well-posted people.

No amusement for a long time has been so popular with the young people of Los Angeles as that offered at the skating rink, on Spring street, opposite Turnverein Hall. Roller-skating is a healthy, invigorating sport, and the new rink is daily crowded with gentlemen and ladies who seem to fully apreciate it. jy31-1m

THE CONCLAVE.

Grand Master Dean and the Boston Commandery in 'Frisco.

Their Reception by the California Knights—The Procession—The Grand Master's Apartments.

[From the San Francisco Call, Aug. 15.]

The reception given Most Eminent Sir Benjamin Dean, grand master of the Grand Encampment, Knights Templar, of the United States, and the members of the Boston Commandery, who arrived yesterday, was the first event of the Conclave which called for a parade of the San Francisco Knights, and may be considered as the beginning of the Conclave festival. The California Commandery assembled in the Masonic Temple for the march to the ferry landing at two o'clock, expecting that the special train on which were the Bostonians would arrive at three. While the Knights were still arriving in the assembly chamber, it was evident that the largest number ever in parade uniform were to turn out for the reception. It was argued as a good sign of the feelings among the Knights, that so large a number were leaving their business for the purpose of participating in even a preliminary and somewhat informal reception. By half-past two ninety-five Knights were assembled in line in the assembly chamber, Their uniforms are very rich and impressive in the abundance of black velvet, white satin lining, black plumes, and the richest character of accessories. When this number had assembled, the commandery, under command of Sir Franklin Henry Day, filed down into Post street, where it waited to be joined by the Golden Gate Commandery. In the assembly room of the latter commandery, in Golden Gate block, on Post street, nearly as great a number of Knights were in uniform by three o'clock. Their uniform, including a long frock, closely-buttoned coat, white cross-belt, red waist-belt, and white plumes, is extremely dressy and attractive, though less impressive than the sombre-hued dress of the California Commandery. Soon after three, the commandery eighty-seven strong, in front of their hall, and, commanded by Eminent Commander John F. Merrill, marched down Post street to join the waiting brethren. The Golden Gate Commandery was preceded by a squad of police and the First Artillery band.

When the Masonic Temple was reached, the California Commandery was allowed to move in directly behind the band, and with the Golden Gate Commandery following, the line of march was taken to the ferry landing, which was reached at 3:30. The appearance of the two commanderies on the street was very attractive, the marching being good, and such movements as were necessary in the march being performed in a manner which showed drilling.

Various causes delayed the special until 4:20, at which hour it arrived at the Causeway depot, where nearly a thousand homeward-bound Oaklanders deserted their trains to witness the debarkation of the Bostonians. When the train came to a stop, the Oakland Commandery faced it in single file, with swords at a carry. The Boston Commandery, seventy-eight strong, formed in single line further down the depot, with the members of the Grand Commandery of California escorting Grand Master Dean, whom they met at Merced in the morning, at the extreme left of the line. This position was preserved until the ladies of the party had boarded the ferry-boat El Capitan, in waiting. The Boston Commandery, in full uniform, then marched past the Oakland Commandery, the latter presenting swords, until the Grand Master and his escort had passed, when the Oakland Commandery escorted the guests as far as the boat. When the San Francisco landing was made, at five o'clock, the Boston Commandery first marched off on to the wharf, where the two San Francisco Commanderies were drawn up in two long L lines extending from the bow of the boat across the wharf to the street. A carriage in waiting, drawn by two spirited teams of horses, was entered by Grand Master Dean and Sir Knights Perkins, Lloyd and Wheeler of the Grand Commandery of California. After the carriage, with its uncovered occupants, had slowly driven through the two lines of Knights and on to the street,

THE PROCESSION

Was then formed, which proceeded to the Palace in the following order:

Platoon of Police.
First Artillery Band.
California Commandery.
Golden Gate Commandery.
Grand Commandery of California.
Boston Commandery.
Carriage with Grand Master Dean and escort.

A crowd of many thousands had gathered near the landing to see the procession formed, and the Knights marched up Market street between deep rows of spectators.

At the Palace the Boston Commandery and the carriage with the Grand Master, passed through the opened ranks of the San Fracisco Knights and into the court of the hotel. There the Boston Commandery formed a hollow square, which was maintained until the Grand Master had dismounted and proceeded to his room. Before he did so he feelingly requested ex-Governor Perkins to extend to each Sir Knight of the Grand Commandery who had done him so much distinguished honor, his heartfelt appreciation of their fraternal and personal regard. In the mean time carriages were arriving with the ladies of the Boston party who entered the ground floor parlor from the entrance leading from the porte cochere, where they were politely received by a delegation of ladies of the executive committee of the Triennial Union.

Grand Master Dean's apartments are on the second floor of the Palace, Nos. 158, 159, 160 and 161, at the corner of Market and New Montgomery streets. They were speedily converted into a resemblance of conservatories. Over two of the bay windows were suspended beautiful floral horseshoes. Over the third bay window is the word "Welcome" in flowers. These designs with clinging vines made against the looped tains a very pretty effect. Around the room were placed with fine effect, various floral designs. The two mantel pieces were heaped with odorous flowers in deep beds. The mass is of rose and fuschias principally, and green vines are interwined. On a table was placed a floral design, about three feet square, emblemizing the double significance of the day. At the top is the date, Aug. 10, and below this the two dates, "1824-1883." Below the first date is a large and half-open lily from which a baby is springing. Below the second date, 1883, is the triple cross of the Grand Master, worked in flowers of royal purple and gold. Below that are the initials "B. D." Another striking piece is a gate of flowers, about three feet high, "The Golden Gate," typifying the open hospitality of San Francisco. It bears the words, "Welcome to Our Golden Gate." It was presented by Mrs. J. Pike, of San Francisco. One of the floral horseshoes is striking, being of marigolds and pansies. A Maltese cross of flowers rests on a standard covered with flowers. Two floral fans seem ready to waft the perfume of all California to Grand Master Dean. The chandeliers were decorated with vines. Baskets of flowers and other designs scented the apartments and all the corridors adjoining.

THE NEW OPERA HOUSE.

There is a feeling of general satisfaction over the fact that a new opera house for Los Angeles is at last assured; and, with its completion, it is to be hoped that our city will see the dawn of a better day as far as the drama and the opera are concerned. This is a matter of no small interest to this community. It would be no slight misfortune if the children of this community were compelled to grow up with no better knowledge of the field occupied by the legitimate drama than has heretofore been afforded them. The stage has its educational work to do, and the elevating or demoralizing influence of that work depends wholly upon the conditions surrounding it. Of the magnificent lessons embodied in the works of Shakspeare, the deep insight gained through them into human nature, of the sublimity and power of human passions, of the awful depth of infamy into which tempted and fallen men may fall, how faint the conceptions of one who has never witnessed their interpretation as rendered by some of the world's great actors? Who that has ever seen that prince of tragedians, Edwin Forest, in the personation of King Lear, but has been impressed, as no sermon could ever impress him, by the lessons conveyed in that tragedy of human sorrow. Not a pulse of the listener's ever failed to beat in sympathy with his exclamation, "How sharper than a serpent's tooth it is to have a thankless child." With the accommodations which this new opera-house will afford, it is to be hoped that dramatic talent of as high an order as ever visits San Francisco will often visit Los Angeles. Our children can have no better help in certain directions than these artists can give them. The historic pictures of Shakspeare will stand out like living facts before their memories when they have once witnessed a correct impersonation of them upon the stage, and no man who is a thoughtful student of the great master of the drama can fail to be a wise student of human nature.

The effect of the merely sensational plays to which we have usually been treated in this city is pernicious. They minister to a false sentiment, to a love of foolish excitement, and educate in a wrong direction. Better no attempt at dramatic entertainments if we can have nothing better than these. Los Angeles is large enough to hold out inducements to traveling artists to come here who can give us something higher. When this new house is completed, let it be dedicated to something better. Let our people be so educated that they shall demand the best, and be satisfied with nothing less. Los Angeles is getting to be a city of fine churches, of public school buildings of which she may well be proud, and our new opera-house should not be behind these in the field to which it belongs, in the advantages which it shall offer to this rapidly-growing community.

THE question that now agitates the minds of impecunious Democratic aspirants for gubernatorial honors in various States outside of Ohio, is, what are they going to do since the market price of nominations has been run up to $50,000 by Judge Hoadly? Isn't it a clear case of the aggressions of capital upon labor?

THE Democratic demagogues of the South ought to cease talking about the hatred entertained by the Northern people for that section of the country. And their allies, the Democratic demagogues of the North, ought to cease echoing their sentiments and making themselves black in the face yelling bloody shirt. Their statements about Northern hostility are not only false, but evince the blackest ingratitude. Since the close of the rebellion, Northern philanthropists have given more than $25,000,000 to the South for educational purposes.

THE editor of the New York Commercial Advertiser went to hear Mgr. Capel preach, and this is the way he describes the effect it had upon him: "Those who came to hear the startling surprises of Plymouth Church, or the oratorical grotesquerie of the Brooklyn Tabernacle, were doubtless disappointed. They saw before them a man of majestic presence, of clear-cut, intellectual face, of dignified mien, of calm enunciation and polished address. The eloquence of Mgr. Capel needs not the foreign aid of ornament, no trick of gesture, nor eccentricity of speech. Like the majestic course of a mighty river it flows from its rippling fount to the open sea, cool, clear, unbroken, beautiful, bearing conviction in its swelling tide, and carrying its hearers along to a haven of intellectual rest."

THE blackleg, murrain, or whatever else it may be, is playing sad havoc with the cattle in the vicinity of San Luis Obispo. No dairy farm seems exempt and the rapid spread of the disease from the coast towards the interior shows that it is contagious. The Tribune says: "When the animals are skinned the flesh of the limbs is nearly black, hence the name. There seems to be no remedy or preventative. It is thought by some to be similar to the Texas fever. Very few survive an attack." The Tribune sensibly publishes these serious facts as they are, instead of denying them, as is the foolish custom in some quarters in similar cases. If an epidemic prevails among either the animal or the human kind, it is best that the simple facts be brought out, in order that intelligent, prompt and effective remedial measures may be adopted. We hear of no new cases of blackleg in Los Angeles County.

THE following editorial paragraph recently appeared in the Examiner: "There are very few millionaires who are not Republican. The parlors of the 'grand old party' are rarely soiled by the boots of the laboring men." To this the malevolent San Buenaventura Free Press responds by asking: "How long is it since the Democratic party was in favor of buying the laboring men on the auction block?"

POLITICAL NOTES.

Proctor Knott, considering that he suffered from neuralgia during the whole canvass for Governor of Kentucky, has a right smart show of a majority. It is to be hoped that, in spite of neuralgia, he will make as good an executive officer as old Isaac Shelby, Kentucky's first Governor, to whom Congress, for meritorious conduct in battle, presented a gold medal, which has just been given by his son to the State.

In reviewing the Democratic candidates for the Presidency, Wade Hampton says: "Mr. Tilden is no longer strong at the South." "Our people like Mr. McDonald very well." "Senator Bayard would be the strongest candidate North and South." "General Butler is not a possibility." With the South for Bayard, the West for McDonald, and the East for the old ticket, there might be a dark horse run in. This is a suggestion for Harrison.

The fact that Judge Hoadly has declared that he should pay no further attention to the Foster-Woodward statement respecting his expenditures to capture the Democratic nomination in Ohio reminds the New York Tribune of a story which runs thus: "When this 'ere Bill Lorimer said I was caught robbing Dr. Green's hen roost," said Mr. Roswell Smiley to the crowd sitting around the stove in the village grocery, "I jis' swore I'd make him prove it." "Well, did you?" asked the little man on the cracker barrel. "Did I? You bet I did." "And what ye going to do about it now?" pursued the little man. "Do about it? There ain't nothin' to do about it. I said I'd make him prove it, and I did."

Politicians are humbugs. They ache to get their names and utterances into the newspapers, while pretending to shrink from publicity. It is a thin old game. In their ill-concealed zeal they often say things that, returning to them in cool print on damp paper, frighten them, and all there is left for them to do is to try to trundle out on the plea of the baby act, and claim they didn't think the reporter was going to publish it. Commenting on Gen. Rosecrans's distress over his treatment by a reporter of the New York World, the Hartford Courant offers this bit of general advice: "Let Gen. Rosecrans and all other aspiring politicians beware of the young man who, being refused an interview, has not self respect enough to retire, but 'sits around' and takes part in 'unreserved chat;' and let them also, to make sure of fair treatment, take the well-considered advice of Governor Waller.—[Kansas City Journal.

At the reunion of confederate soldiers lately held at McKinney, Tex., Governor Ireland said the South had no apologies to make for the part it took in the rebellion, and Gen. Lewis said the bloody chasm had not yet been bridged. It is unnecessary to state that these two gentlemen are Democrats, and represent a sentiment which is just as pronounced as their utterances, but not as bold in its expression.—[Kansas City Journal.

A good many of this class of people, when they declare themselves "thoroughly reconstructed," simply lie.

Two Democratic Victories.
From the Kansas City Journal.]

During the past week the Democrats have scored two sweeping victories—one in Kentucky and one in Utah. In the first named State the result of illiteracy and whisky; in the territory the bestial polygamists favor the Democratic party because, like the liquor dealers of Ohio, they believe their salvation is in that party.

A Chance in the Mountains.
Pasadena Chronicle.]

High and dry, in the heart of the Sierra Madres, nature has performed one of its remarkable freaks, and at the time of the great upheaval, left in the midst of these mountains a level spot containing 250 acres, having a depth of soil sufficient for growing purposes, and rich at that. It is only the entire absence of water that has long since prevented its location and settlement, and it remains nature's park, for the deer to browse and gambol in, or the grizzly to growl when his appetite has to go unsatisfied. The spot is visible from Pasadena, and here is a ready stake for some enterprising fellow who has brains enough to think a hole through a brick wall, and can contrive to supply this elevated position with water.

Snow-shoes for the Louisville Exposition.

The San Francisco Bulletin says: H. J. McKusick, Superintendent of the Railway Mail Service of the Pacific Coast, intends soon to send for exhibition at the Louisville (Ky.) Exposition, which began the first of the month, several of the odd contrivances that are peculiar to the mail service on this coast. The Postoffice Department has a large exhibit of appliances that have been used since the inauguration of the postal system in this country, designed to show the many improvements in the various branches of the service. Among the things from California will be an old pair of snow-shoes of the Norwegian style, about twelve feet in length, two inches thick and six inches wide. They are made of stout mountain ash, with turned-up toes shod at the points, and were the first pair of snow-shoes ever used in the mail service in the State, h ving belonged to J. A. Thomson, the old pioneer frontiersman and mail-carrier. He carried his pouch through the Sierra snows for many years, over the trail from Placerville to Carson City. Mr. Thomson died a few years ago. This was the primitive mountain mail system. Next came the dog-sledge, then horses on snow-shoes; afterwards the stage, and then the railroad. A horse snow-shoe, a curious concern of rubber and iron, now used in Sierra, Alpine, Trinity and other counties, is also to be exhibited. A sample drum, a peculiar, ready-made postoffice, a California invention and used in small country offices, is also to be sent on.

Address of Striking Telegraph Operators.

This comes to hand for publication:

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13, 1883.—To Our Friends: This Brotherhood has been shown an order addressed to all agents of the Western Associated Press, emanating from their Chicago headquarters, directing them to suppress all news items concerning the present strike of the telegraphers. This is authentic and shows plainly the policy adopted as a last resort by our oppressors. The object of this ruse, of course, is to make it appear to the public that the business of the company is no longer suffering from lack of a full and efficient force to handle it, and to cause the great public sympathy which is now ours to die out for want of news. Our official news from all parts is of the most encouraging nature. We have already won the fight, but Jay Gould is not candid enough to admit it.

A TOUGH STORY.

How a Nevada Farmer is Said to Have Slain a Numidian Lion.
Carson Appeal.]

Yesterday morning about 2 o'clock Daniel Wilkens, who lives near the Voltaire mill, heard a commotion in his hen roost, and suspecting coyotes in the chicken house, went out with a club and a lighted candle. He saw something moving about dimly in the semi-darkness, and just then his light went out. Having located the animal, however, he went for it, and dealing it a heavy blow with a club had the satisfaction of hearing it yell with pain. He followed up his advantage and clubbed it until it ceased to move. He then went into the house and called his wife, who came to the front with a light and discovered that the farmer had killed a full sized Numidian lion which had escaped from Robinson's circus. In a few minutes the keepers who had tracked the animal came up, and seeing the defunct monarch of the jungle stretched cold in death they burst into tears and could not be consoled. The lion had been badly beaten about the head and four of his massive teeth knocked out. Mr. Robinson was sent for and said he had just paid $10,000 for the ferocious beast, and had rather have lost the sacred crockodile of the Nile than to have the poor lion hurt. The old farmer said he never felt so sorry in all his life for anything as that, and offered the circus people an old billy goat with three horns as a balm for their lacerated feelings. It was one of the saddest affairs that ever occurred in that end of our quiet town.

What We Might Have Been.
From the Kansas City Journal.]

The surviving descendants of Americus Vespuccius have renewed their claim to a monthly pension of a few dollars voted in the lifetime of the great discoverer by the Italian government. If Americus really discovered us as stated, and gave his name to the country, the United States of America should do something for the two poor women who are now the sole owners of the illustrious name from which "America" was derived. We shudder to think of what our name would be if we had been discovered by a man name Smith or Scroggins or Tilden or Charles Francis Adams. Suppose Susan B. Anthony had found us? We would have been now the United States of Anthonia, and the woman's rights business would have been the first clause in its constitution. Think of the frightful results of having been found by Samuel J. Tilden! Watterson would be prime minister and the republic would be called, "The Usufruct Combination." Perhaps Dr. Mary Walker might have dropped onto us accidentally. Then we would have been in a box. Women would be wearing the bifurcated unwhisperables and the men would be glad to get anything to wear. Any reasonable man can see we owe Americus a great deal. If it wasn't for Americus we would not even be Americans. We don't know what we would be. Half of us don't know anyway, but the other half owe their identity to Americus Vespuccius. We have been informed that his surviving relatives need bread. We are in favor of relieving them and towards that end we subscribe ten cents towards a monument to Americus to be erected in Shelley park.

A skating rink accident is thus described by a Kentucky reporter: "She struck out—couldn't turn—started for the ceiling—shouted, 'Don't look!'—turned a handspring, and then sat down. The stripes were brown and red."

An English servant girl, who had returned from the United States to visit her friends at home, was told that she "looked really aristocratic." To which she responded; "Yes, in America all of us domestics belong to the hire class."

Mrs. Monntjoy Belassis (after several collisions)—"It strikes me, Mr. Rudderford, you're much more at home in a boat than in a ball room!" Little Bobbie Rudderford (the famous Oxbridge coxswain)—"Yes, by Jove! And I'd sooner steer eight men than one woman any day!"—[London Punch.

A special train which left New York city one day last week to carry a distinguished physician of New York to Montreal for consultation made the trip in less than eleven hours. At one time five consecutive miles were covered in four minutes—forty-eight seconds to the mile.

"Oh! why art thou not near me, oh! my love?" sang a serenader in Glasgow, the other night; and yet when the girl, who was leaning too far out of the window, lost her balance and dropped right on him, the fellow acted as confused as could be. Some men cannot stand success.

THE NEW PILGRIM FATHERS.

They Quote from and Apply Zach Montgomery's Argument.
From Recreation.]

BURRO CANYON, Aug. 8, 1883.—Dear Brod: I have not written to you for a long time; not 'cause I've forgotten you, but because times have been so dull that there has been but little to write about, but the new Pils. have been having a high old time lately and I must write you about it. In the first place, I am not going to school now and a'int going any more, so I have lots of time to bum. You see this is the way I found out all about it.

Night before last I found out that the New Pilgrim Fathers were going to hold a meeting to insist like the Old Pilgrim Fathers on having their in—— something rights preserved to them; somebody had been giving them a lot of books against the public schools, so I slid away from the supper table before supper was over and got in behind the skids Dad uses to roll Bourbon barrels in on, and waited for the meeting to open. Dad, he came in first, and lit the lamps, then he turned round, stood still a minute and then began to swear like everything. He was looking at something, so I stretched my neck up between the skids and looked. Dad, he was swearing at a piece of printed paper somebody had pasted onto the head of an old Monongahela barrel. It said on't it—

THE POISON FOUNTAIN;
Taste first and condemn afterwards."

The printing said "read first," but some feller had scratched out the "read" to make sense, and altered it to "taste."

"Who in ——," commenced Dad, when Ole Nate, he come in and said:

"Tut! tut! ole man, I put it there, cause I thought it needed some sorter application like."

Cock-eyed Billie, he come in with old Nate, and he said:

"Whacher wanter kerdem it fer, 'til we taste fust?" and then he went and rinsed out a tumbler with his thumb, looking at Dad all the time in a suggesting sort of manner.

"Well, plague on yer, take a glass if you want it, and tell me where that thing came from," said Dad.

When he said that, all the Pils. who were outside, filed in and stood around the Monongahela while Cock-eyed Billie passed the tumbler around.

"Them's good drops if they do come from a pison fount'n," said Cock-eyed Billie, as he lifted up the fly cage on the counter and took out his supper of crackers and bologna and cheese.

"Y-e-s," said Old Nate as he drowned a fly in tobacco juice in the sandbox spittoon, "them drops is a 'blow for the inalienable rights uv ther family.'"

"What are you trying to get through you to-night, anyway?" said Dad.

"What! aintcher heerd 'bout it?" said Cockeyed Billie. "Aint goin' ter be no more edjercation no more?"

"Why not?" said Dad.

"Cuz't makes so much crime," said Cockeyed Billie, "ther numskulls hev been a teachin' ther youngsters so much that they ar a gittin' ter robbin', forgin', bezzlin' an' they don't turn out no more good men like they did in my day. I never hed no larnin' an' hyer I am! I aint in no prison."

"That's one uv ther 'facts that are stranger ner fiction,'" said Old Nate, slapping one eyelid down hard as he looked at the ceiling.

"Them howlin' totle absinthe fellers don't need ter ask no more whar ther crime comes from. Ther friends uv liberty ar' a stirrin' up ther question. Them fellers wont try to take no more uv our ole instertutions 'way from us. Le's drink ter free whisky an'—

"Free schools, Billie?" interrupted old Nate.

"Didn't say so!" snarled cock-eyed Billie.

"Here's ter ther constertution, an ther 'herited rights them Pilgrim Fathers o' our'n fought fer. Ther gov'ment haint no right ter take our whisky from us."

"Nor ther schools nuther," suggested old Nate.

"Didn't say so," snarled Billie again, "them schools 'cordin ter ther senses uf 1860 an' 1870, ar' a making the people criminals an' a ruinin' ther risin' generation. 'Tought ter be stopped."

"What's whiskey a doin?" asked old Nate.

"It's running free," interrupted Dad in a hurry, frowning at Old Nate and setting up the Monongahela again all around.

"D'ye know they've been a teachin' the risin' gen'ration thet whisky hurts ther brains, an' a givin' them boys all sorts o' notions 'bout sciunce an' whisky. I heerd them a tellin' em only day 'fore yesterday that whisky made more murd'rers than anything else," said Cock-eyed Billie.

"Is that so?" said Dad, looking just like Daniel Webster.

"You can bet on't," said Billie.

"Then my boy don't go to school any more," said Dad, bringing his fist down on the counter and making a beer schooner fly off on to Old Nate's foot.

"Want's him ter grow up like us," said Old Nate, hopping over to the Monongahela barrel to get some whisky to ease the pain.

So that's why I don't go to school, Brod. I am going to have a high old vacation. Dad says it is the duty of the parents to teach the children, and says that Ma must take me in hand, and he will examine me in my studies every week. He don't intend that I shall grow up a criminal and disgrace the family, he says. More soon.

Your friend,
ANDREW JACKSON GRIMES.

THE PONY EXPRESS.

The Riding Contests of Early Days.
Chicago Times.]

Mr. A. B. Miller, the prime mover, the man who prepared the way and kept it in running order from the Missouri to the Pacific, is now a resident of this city, and his hair is only streaked with gray, so fast do things change in the West. In an early day the firm of Russell, Majors, Waddell & Co. were among the largest contractors in the United States, their business amounting to $6,000,000 annually. Mr. Miller was the "Co," the youngest member of the firm, and in a great measure the life of it. Mails were very irregular, the stage lines taking a weekly, which was sometimes lost, in fact, was extremely fortunate to get through. This was conducted at a tremendous cost. There was great rivalry between the stage and ocean lines, the latter struggling for contracts for taking the mails from New York by steamer to the Isthmus, across this and again by steamer up the western coast. The mail which went overland went by the Northern route through New Mexico and Arizona. The contracting firm above mentioned had the control of the Central route by Kearney, Julesburg, Fort Laramie and Salt Lake. People insisted that this route was impracticable, and the idea of a daily mail over it was poohpoohed most vigorously. Mr. Miller pursuaded his more conservative partners that such a mail could be carried. From this idea grew the pony express, the fame of which was soon worldwide. He was given two months, February and March, 1861, to equip the line with stock and stations, which he did at a cost of $80,000. It was thought that the line would support itself, so the proprietors expected not to be out more than the original investment. It could hardly be said that it did pay, but it demonstrated what could be done, and encouraged the railroad and the wire to follow in its wake. Previous to this time there had been limited express lines of the kind, but nothing on so gigantic a scale. Mr. Miller had been over the route enough to know what had been done. He said that Salt Lake could be reached from St. Joe in ten days, and the coast in five days more.

On April 3d the ponies are started from each end of the line. By this time the confidence of Miller had proved infectious, and Russell was just as confident. The New York Steamer Company were confident, too, but not in the same way. So a bet was made. It was a pretty good-sized bet, being for $50,000 a side.

The race began and was watched with breathless interest. Station after station was passed. The pony from the ocean and the pony from the valley panted toward each other, with the hundreds of miles between them melting away. At each station there was another horse sad lled and rider ready spurred. The mail-bag was passed from one to the other, and on sped like the wind the fresh horse and rider. One boy on this first trip was lost in a canyon of snow. For four precious hours he wandered. Then he started on with desperate vigor. Another was lost in the Platte; the horse he rode was drowned. But the rider swam out with his mail and footed it to the next station. Here his relief was in waiting, and the flight was taken up again. Would the rider and the horse with their daring and energy win? Would the accident and the strangeness of the trial make them lose? No one could tell. The days passed. The ponies neared each other, they passed, the riders gave a wild hurrah. On and on; whip and spur. Ten days have gone and the ponies have kept up to the mark. Fifteen. At 4 o'clock the westward-bound must be in Sacramento. The noon has passed, and the minutes are being counted. Half-past three. Will the brave rider be on hand. As yet there is no sign. With only thirty minutes to spare Russell wants to double his bet. Then a cloud of dust is seen, it grows to a speck. The rider waves his hat. The people shout. The pony express has crossed the American Great Desert. Victory! There is still twenty minutes graze.

This speed was always kept up just as if there were $50,000 at stake daily. It was the same for months. Then the complications of the war turned everything upside down. The riders went to do battle, the stations were abandoned, contracts went to other hands, and grass grew over the trail. But soon the stage used it, and the telegraph line was not far behind, while those who have rushed across the plains by steam know what followed these innovations.

The riders of the pony express were all young, wiry fellows, whose very love of excitement and danger had brought them to the frontier. In this occupation they had their fill. The individual adventures would fill a volume. The life, with its exposure and hardship, was a wearing one. What has become of the riders now in question? Many of them have followed the frontier, and will stand on its fore till they die. Many have died already. One, named Murphy, recently died in Salt Lake. From the stripling of the '60's he came to weigh 220 pounds. He made quite a reputation as a desperate character. As one who knew him said, "He got to big too ride a pony, but had a good build for holding-up stages." One of the most daring of the crowd rode into Salt Lake from eighty miles this side, through the wildest part of the route. It was a hard task, but the lad was equal to it, doing the work of about four men. He afterwards joined the Confederate army, and died on a Southern battlefield. These riders were of a class similar to the cow-boys of the present day, ready for a fight or a frolic, and entering either with the determination to make the most of it. They were loyal to each other and their friends. There was only one mail lost by them, and that happened to be of little value. It was lost in Egan's cañon, when the rider in charge was attacked by Indians, his horse killed, and he himself wounded. The company tried to get the Government to punish the Indians for this, but there was another matter for Uncle Sam to attend to just then. So Miller took seventy-five men, went out and killed a few of the playful savages, and found that they kept out of the way very nicely after. The charges for carrying letters were $5 per ounce or fraction thereof. This afterward reduced to half the amount, and then a sort of paper known as "Pony Express" was invented, its best point being that it weighed almost nothing. The contents of an eight page paper could be written upon it and sent for $2.50.

The income of the concern while running averaged $500 per day. Some very valuable documents were carried, and in every case arrived in good order. England was at that time having a little argument with China. Reports from the English squadron in Chinese quarters to the home government were carried by this route, it being the quickest and safest. One of these official papers weighed so much that the charges upon it were $135.

Pasadena Paragraphs.

From the Pasadena Chronicle, Aug. 16th.]

Mr. Baker is erecting a cottage on Fair Oaks avenue.

Mr. Barnes' new cottage on Marengo avenue is about ready for occupancy.

Mr. Curtis has taken possession of his neat cottage just erected for him by Mr. Ridgeway.

Mr. Ridgeway has the contract to erect a two-story for Stephen Townsend, to cost about $2000.

The new schoolhouse for the Pasadena district is fast assuming handsome proportions. Mr. Ripley is the contractor, and when completed it will cost about $5000.

Pasadena is visited every week by innumerable pleasure seekers, who, in the drive of nine miles, drink in the balmy breeze which wafts itself from the Pacific, and view with complacency and pleasure the orange and lemon groves and vineyards which stretch away to the foot of the Sierra Madres. It is the most pleasant drive to be had in the country.

We noticed at the drug store the other day a curiosity in the shape of a chicken. It had four legs and was dead, as any four-legged chicken ought to be. It died, we suppose, trying to navigate, and was one of a number which constituted the first crop of one of our prominent real estate men.

A rattlesnake stood almost erect in the way of Mr. E. W. Giddings, ready to spring, but his resolutions were broken into by a well aimed blow which laid his snakeship out. It measured four feet, and had fifteen rattles. One of the fangs which we took from the mouth was three-quarters of an inch in length, and the snake measured in circumference six inches.

LITERARY CRITICS.

One Takes Another by the Throat and Does for Him.

San Francisco Wasp.]

As a journal of literary criticism the Bulletin takes almost as high rank as the Idiot's Gazette, the Jackasses' Journal and the Muttonton Baa-aa. It is notably strong on Shakespeare; witness the following golden opinions in a review of Rolfe's editron of that author's Sonnets and Poems:

"A great many sonnets have been attributed to Shakespeare which he never wrote. Among the sonnets recognized in the edition of Shakespearean origin are 'Venus and Adonis,' 'A Lover's Complaint,' 'Rape of Lucrece,' 'The Phenix and the Turtle,' and 'The Passionate Pilgrim.' One does not get an exalted view of Shakespeare as a poet from reading these sonnets, and, with a few exceptions, the whole of them might have been stricken out without any great loss to the world."

That these poems are "sonnets" is a remarkably brilliant discovery of the Bulletin's bookdozer; in glittering originality it almost equals that of the man who by the mere power of his unaided genius evolved the great truth that a horse is a cow.

I am swamped in a fathomless puddle of penitence. I struggle under a vast remorse that overcomes me like a wet blanket. For, lo! I have done an injustice that I am powerless to recall —and do over again. Some years ago, this same Bulletin, in reviewing Omar Khayyam, spoke of his work as consisting of "a series of four line sonnets." Good heaven! with what fury I fell upon poor Sam Williams, God rest him! In my wrath at such barbarous ignorance I called him every name in my vocabulary of disapproval, and drew largely upon that of Dr. (then Mr.) Bartlett. And it wasn't Sam—obviously it was not he for the "four-line sonnet" chap is still extant, while Samuel, alas! is dead. Dead, and I cannot recall the harsh judgment. Dead, and I cannot ask him to forgive. Dead and buried, and I cannot lead the real sinner to the spot, kneel beside him on the grave and reverently cut his throat!

Is it you, Dr. Bartlett, that talks learnedly of sonnets, yet knows not what a sonnet is? Then get you to your dictionary, dunce; split it like a codfish and deal its unfamiliar leaves to right or left until you find the word. Away with you to the book; and don't let me catch you loitering at the naughty words, or, by the devil's body, I shall spank you on the spitter till you sputter blobs of blood!

"Who is this Tom Moore that Palmer has been plagiarizing from?" asked one Yale senior of another. "Blessed if I know," was the reply; "I have looked over the college records, but failed to find any such name," and then they went into the gymnasium and began pounding each other with boxing gloves.—[Rochester Post-Express.

Bancroft, the historian, although 80 years old, is one of the best equestrians at Newport.

After the Style of the French.

"So you love my daughter, eh?"

"Y-yes, sir."

"And you have money to support her in good style?"

"I have $20,000 in bank, and an income of $5000 per year."

"Money in bank! Ah! I see you are no financier, you should have invested in bonds and doubled your interest. For instance, I have securities paying ten per cent."

The poor young man hurries off to get his cash and buy bonds of his future father-in-law. After he had departed Lucy enters the library and asks:

"Father, did William ask your consent?"

"He did, dear."

"And you said yes?"

"No, darling; he has no wealth to give you station."

"But he has $30,000."

"Oh, no. I just raked that in for bonds that won't be worth ten cents on the dollar six months hence. I love you too well to see you marry a poor man and have to live in six story rooms."

FINANCE AND TRADE.

San Francisco Produce Market.

Revised Daily for the Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 15.

FLOUR—Liberal shipments go forward tomorrow to Central American ports per steamer. We quote: Best city extra, $5@5 50; medium grades, $4 to $4 50; shipping, superfine, $3 75@4 ₱ bbl.

WHEAT—Business seems to be picking up. There is a more active inquiry on the part of the export interest, and holders are said to be somewhat more accommodating in their views. Buyers say they can get all the grain they want at $1 67½, or a trifle above, but a good many holders claim they will not sell under $1 70.

BARLEY—Few dealers expected so favorable a change in the situation as has occurred within a week. Last Tuesday it was thought the market for Feed had about attained its full height for a time, when 97½c ₱ ctl was obtained for seller 1883 contracts. But though the situation has sometimes since looked rather wavering there were always more or less evidences of strong support, and values were not allowed to relapse. We quote: No. 1 Feed, $1 02½@1 05; Brewing, $1 07½@1 10 for new, and $1 15@1 20 ₱ ctl for old.

CORN—There are no very heavy offerings. Quotable at $1 02½@1 05 ₱ ctl for California Yellow. Nebraska is offering at $1 47½ ₱ ctl.

BRAN—The mill price is steadily maintained. Quotable at $17 ₱ ton.

HAY—We quote: Alfalfa, $6 to $10; Wheat, $10@13; Wild Oat, $11@12 50; Barley, $8@11; Mixed, $6@10 ₱ ton.

HOPS—Are dull. Quotable at 15@25c ₱ lb.

POTATOES—Values do not fluctuate to any extent. Quotable on the wharf at 50@$1 00 ₱ ctl, according to quality. Sweets bring $2 50@3 ₱ ctl.

ONIONS—Trade is regular and prices unchanged. Quotable at $2@2 50 for Red, and 60 to 70c ₱ ctl for Silverskins.

BEANS—All kinds except Limas and Reds are scarce, and consequently prices are advancing. Many dealers expected that the new crop of White would have commenced coming in by this time, and allowed their stocks to run pretty low. It is claimed that the crop this season is very much later than usual. We quote: Bayos, 5½@5½c for Chile and 4½c for California; Butter, $4 25@4 50, as to size; Limas, $3@3 12½; Pea and Small White, $3 40@3 50; Pink, $4 37½; Red, $3 25.

FRUIT—The shipments of California Fruit to Eastern markets this season is said to be turning out more satisfactorily than last year. A pretty large business was transacted last season, but much of the fruit arrived in poor shape, and the result was not a pronounced success. We quote local market as follows: Figs, 75c@$1 50 ₱ box; Grapes 60c to $1 25; Apples, 50c@$1 25 ₱ box; Pears, 30@40c ₱ bskt, and 50@60c ₱ box; Bartlett, do, 75c@$1 00 ₱ box and 40@60c ₱ bskt; Apricots, 50@75c ₱ box; Plums, 1@3c ₱ lb; Strawberries, 5?@8; Blackberries, $7@8; Peaches, 30c@$0c ₱ box and bskt; Lemons, $9@9 50 for Sicily; California Lemons, $1 50@2 ₱ box; Mexican Limes, $9@10 ₱ box; Tamarinds, 12½@13c ₱ lb; Bananas, $1 75@3 ₱ bunch; California Oranges, $1 25@2 ₱ box; Tahiti do, $20@25 ₱ thousand; Watermelons, $6@12 ₱ hundred; Cantaloupes, $1@1 25 ₱ case; Crab Apples, 50@75c ₱ box; Nectarines, 75c ₱ box.

DRIED FRUIT—Receipts of new crop continue light, but the demand for fall trade has not yet opened, and no difficulty is experienced in filling the few orders that come to hand. We quote as follows: Sun-dried Apples, 5@6½c ₱ lb for sliced, and 5@6c for quartered; Alden and Plummer, 10@11c; Apricots, 10@11c; Blackberries, 11½@12c; Figs, 7c for pressed and 4@5c for unpressed; Smyrna, 14@16c; Nectarines, 8@9½c; Peaches, 10@16c for peeled and 8@9c for unpeeled; Pears, 5@6c for whole and 7@8 for sliced; machine dried, 10@12½c; Plums, 11½@12c for pitted and 3½@4c for unpitted; German Prunes, 9@10c; French Prunes, 13@14c ₱ lb; Raisins, $1 50 for loose Muscatel and $1 75@2 ₱ box for London Layers, with usual advance for fractional boxes.

NUTS—Market is fairly furnished with all kinds. We quote jobbing prices as follows: California Almonds, 14c for soft and 7@9c for hard shell; Walnuts, 8½@9½c; Peanuts, 8@9c; Hickory Nuts, 9@10c; Filberts, 14@15c; Pecans, 13@15c; Brazil Nuts, 11@12½c ₱ lb; Cocoanuts, $6@6 50 ₱ hundred.

HONEY—There is no large amount coming forward, and the market is not burdened with any heavy stock. New crop extracted is held at 7@8c ₱ lb for choice; Comb, 12½@18c ₱ lb.

BEESWAX—Offerings are almost nominal. Quotable at 29@31c ₱ lb.

BUTTER—Stock of choice is not plenty, but medium grades are rather in excess of immediate wants. We quote as follows: Fancy, 35c; choice, 31@33c; fair to good, 24@27c; inferior lots from country stores, 19@22c; choice firkin, old, 20@22½c; do new, 22@25c; ordinary do, 17@19c; pickled roll, 25@27½c; Eastern, 14@18c ₱ lb.

CHEESE—Has a rather steady tone. Even fair qualities are hard to find at our lower figures. The inquiry is becoming more pronounced for the better class of goods. We quote: California, 11@12½c for choice; 9@10c for fair to good; do factory in boxes, 14@16; Eastern, 15 to 16c ₱ lb.

EGGS—We quote: California, 36@37c for choice, 32@35c for fair to good, and 26@30c for ordinary quality; Utah, 25@26c; Eastern, 20@24c; Farallone, 30c ₱ doz.

GAME—In moderate request. We quote: Venison, 11@14c ₱ lb; Doves, 75c@$1 ₱ doz; Hare, 82@2 50; Rabbit, $1@1 25 ₱ doz.

—OF—
MANY MINDS

The traditional shopkeeper prefers to keep his wares and stock for years than to part from them without his customary profit. He would rather retain remnants and refused merchandise than to regulate the price to its real saleable value.

Such merchants are neither progressive nor judicious, and people trading at such an institution soon find out to their dismay that merchandise, like iron, wheat or produce, sometimes declines in value.

The PEOPLES' STORE, by reason of its large trade, finds that periodically it is necessary to weed out the large creation of

ODDS AND ENDS

That naturally accumulates. These goods are at present writing being marked and placed on our Center Tables.

We have just reviewed the Odds and Ends and find remarkable good values amongst them, such as would interest mothers and heads of families.

Early callers will receive first choice, while tardy purchasers cannot expect to view a full assortment.

We publish a Story Paper which we send to any address Free.

HEALTH! HEALTH! HEALTH!

HEALTH restoration life prolonged to suffering humanity, by the most wonderful curative agents ever discovered. Invite the sick, no matter what their diseases may be, to call and investigate for themselves before abandoning all hope, for it will cost you nothing. I give no encouragement unless there is a fair prospect of making a cure. I will endeavor to be candid in my opinion, and reasonable in my charges. I claim not to cure everybody, but to cure all that can be cured. I am formerly from New York city, and a graduate of one of the best medical colleges in the United States, and a most thorough Electrician, and have had many years successful practice in the treatment of both acute and chronic diseases. To remove all doubts and convince my patients that I claim nothing but what I am, I refer to my diplomas and the numerous recommendations in my possession, which will always be ready for inspection at my office.

I HAVE NO ONE CURE-ALL nor do I make a hobby of any one mode of treatment. I use electricity or medicines or both, as cases may require. I find the cause of disease, remove it, and nature, assisted by medicinal remedies properly applied, will promote a cure without fail. TO THE LADIES. To the ladies I would say: You, whose sufferings have become intolerable, and who have suffered a thousand deaths from those diseases so common to your sex, give me a call for I CAN CURE YOU WITHOUT FAIL, and make your lives once again worth living for. And all consultations will be strictly private and confidential. YOUNG MEN. To those young men who are suffering from year to year, and whose vital powers have become impaired, and nervous system unstrung and broken down, and are suffering all the horrors from the effects of youthful follies; COME AND SEE ME. PROBY'S CASE.

His Account of the Drowning at Santa Monica.

His Strange Adventure in Oregon—The Curious Freaks and Eccentricities of a Disordered Mind.

The case of Robert Proby, who is now confined in the county jail, and who will have his preliminary examination before Justice Ling to-day on a charge of conspiracy to defraud the Order of the Legion of Honor of $5000 insurance money, is one of peculiar interest in several respects. In the first place, Proby is an Odd Fellow, the members of which order are in general so upright and honest that any who fall from integrity among them are soon brought into an unenviable notoriety. In the second place, the manner of his disappearance was mysterious and unusual, so much so that the case may be said to stand alone in the court records of this county and State. Thirdly, so far as can now be ascertained, Proby bore a good reputation prior to his advent upon the scene of his disappearance. A representative of the TIMES visited him at the County Jail yesterday, and came away satisfied that unless there is much method in his madness, his mind is diseased and disordered. Whether he was perfectly sane at the time of his disappearance, and whether he ought to be held strictly to account, as a person legally and morally responsible, is a question for the courts to decide.

PROBY IN PRISON.

The man, as he appears in prison, is anything but prepossessing. His dress is rough, and is not in the first stages of cleanliness; his face would look better if submitted to the operation of the tonsorial artist. There is in his conversation and in his manner an unpleasant suggestion of reason deranged. The first allusion to the Santa Monica affair brought a vehement torrent of disconnected sentences, in which he complained bitterly of what he called "persecution." "The whole thing," he said, "is wrong. I am as innocent as a lamb."

Question—If you are innocent, why did you disappear at all.

Answer—It was all through a hallucination in regard to my wife. I wanted to get away from her. I know I wronged her. I thought I could not live with her. I had studied and thought over what to do.

Q.—When did you first make up your mind to leave her in the way you did?

A.—I never thought of making out that I was dead until I heard them crying out at Santa Monica that a man had been drowned. I did come very near drowning and was in need of help. I managed to turn over on my back, and after I had got the salt water out of my lungs, the thought struck me that this would be a good time to leave Minnie, my wife, forever. I don't know how it was, but the idea came to me as I was floating on my back. So I floated around until I could hear them no more, and then swam to the beach and went up to the tent. I thought that Minnie would never know that I was not drowned, and if she got the insurance money it would be all the better. I went up to the tent and put on another suit of clothes I had left there.

A SCRAP OF PAPER.

Q.—Where did you go when you left there?

A.—I really don't know. I think I went through Los Angeles and up to San Francisco, Stockton and around the bay. But I tell you I am as innocent of any conspiracy as any man that walks God's green footstool. It's not prosecution that I'm afraid of. It's persecution. Do you think that I would have come back here if I had been guilty of conspiracy?

Q.—You went to Oregon, did you not?

A.—Oh, yes; I wandered all over. I was in Portland when I first heard of my wife's destitution. Me and another man was in an old house, when I saw a scrap of paper lying on a barrel. I picked it up and the first thing that met my eye was an account of the destitution of my wife and little ones. That was in April, I believe, and the paper was part of a Los Angeles newspaper. I then sent my wife money and wrote to her that I was wrong, and wanted her to forgive me. After that I don't know what I did. I believe I was crazy, and I intend to bring doctors to prove that I was crazy. I have been suffering with dyspepsia for years and I knew at Santa Monica that I could not live long. Any doctor will tell you that a person in the last stages of dyspepsia is liable to insanity. I don't believe I knew what I was doing from the time I left Santa Monica.

LETTERS TO THE WIFE.

Q.—You say you wrote letters to your wife?

A.—"Yes, I wrote to her several times. It was only last Sunday that I sent her $50, and I expect her to come to me here next week. There's not a man that can say I ever did wrong before. I have been an Odd Fellow for about ten years, and was Noble Grand of Wills Point, Texas, Lodge for two terms, and I was a delegate to the Grand Lodge in 1880.

Q.—Did your wife answer your letters? Where is she now?

A.—She is at Wild Horse, Texas. I have just given my lawyer a letter she wrote to Mrs. Crane, at Azusa, in which she said she was learning to telegraph. She never answered a single letter I wrote her. She has ignored me. I wrote to her that I would work and send her money if she would let me know where she was. The money I sent her when I first came down here was returned.

Q.—Did you write to the lodge in Texas?

A.—Yes; I wrote to everybody. Now, Mr. Gibson says I wrote to my wife to go ahead and get the money if she could. I did not do it. I wrote to her not to get it, that I had repented of my wrong, and that I did not know what I was doing when I left her and the babies. Yesterday I wrote seven pages to the paper at Wills Point, giving a full account of the whole affair from the first.

PERSECUTION AND SUICIDE.

Q.—You contemplated suicide, did you not?

A—Suicide! I will commit suicide before I will be persecuted and told that I cannot have justice. It's justice that I want. Why, here's Cheesebrough says he will spend $10,000 to send me to the penitentiary. To think of such a thing in God's country! Well, I won't stay in this hole two days. I'll commit suicide and end it all. They don't send me to the penitentiary. I couldn't live shut up in such a place. I quit the real estate business because I could't stand the confinement. They said they caught me from a photograph. They didn't. It was from the paper at Will's Point.

Q.—Do you think they would give you an opportunity to commit suicide? There would be no show to do that.

A.—Yes, there would be a show. I have been taking morphine for a long time. I have been half drunk on it for the last three months. But I havn't got it now. I threw the bottle away.

Q.—How long have you been in this county.

A.—I came back here about the middle of June, and I intend to stay here. Where a person goes down is the place to build up, and I intend to stay right here in Los Angeles.

Mr. Kingsbury has been retained as Proby's attorney, and the preliminary examination will take place in Justice Ling's court at 2 p. m. to-day.

Teutonic Talk.

"Several Germans," otherwise "Max," responds to a TIMES writer on the subject of things German and things Dutch, by saying: "If he tells me that Holland has produced great men, he is correct. But only the Dutch have a right to be proud of that. He says that if he were not an American he would have no objection to be a Dutchman. I assure you, if I were not a German, I, too, would have no objection whatever to being a Dutchman; but being a German, I must object to being called anything else."

Birthday Party at San Gabriel.

A very pleasant party assembled at the residence of D. F. Hall on Wednesday, August 16th, to celebrate the eighteenth birthday of Master Charley T. Hall. All expected to have a good time and were not disappointed. Everybody enjoyed the various games. Master Charles will remember his eighteenth birthday as one of the most pleasant recollections. Among those present were the Misses Velma Brown, Mame Stone, Linda Walace, Gussie Burdick, Allie Richardson, Mabel Montague, Ida Youngby, Rosella Stoerner, Minnie Taylor, Mrs. Burdick, Masters Willie C. Mulock, Harry Mayberry, Glen Wallace, Wiley Wallace, Geo. Wallace, Sam Wallace, Eddie Norton, Narciso Mendoza, Manuel Salazar, Frank Hubbert, Joseph Smith, Geo. Coffin, Lee Stephens.

At 12 o'clock supper was announced, to which the guests did ample justice. The guests were favored by several Spanish songs by Messrs. Mendoza and Salazar. They also favored us with several popular airs on the harmonica and guitar. At 1 o'clock the guests dispersed, all feeling well pleased with the successful events of the evening.

The first number of the Pasadena Chronicle, a new candidate for public favor, representing the interests of the San Gabriel Valley, was issued yesterday. Ben. E. Ward is publisher and C. M. In the Avise murder trial, in progress before Judge Sepulveda, the case for the people was closed yesterday, and the defense opened their case. The lobby of the court-room was filled with the friends of the defendants and the murdered man, and great interest is felt in the result of the trial.

A call has been issued by the Board of Trade to leading fruit-growers in this county requesting them to assemble at the Board of Trade rooms Saturday next, at 11 a. m., for the purpose of securing an exhibit of fruits, wines, etc., at the headquarters of Cœur de Lion Commandery in San Francisco.

The large watermelons which excited the wonder of the visiting Knights Templar this week, were yesterday eclipsed by a 95-pounder, which was shipped from this city to the Louisville Exposition, through Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express. Los Angeles County can beat the world on big watermelons.

CENTINELA CROPS.

This Year's Work on a Los Angeles Rancho.

The Grain-growers and the Grain Fields—Area in Cultivation—Approximate Average Yield per Acre—Interesting Statistics.

A few weeks ago the grain yield of Los Angeles county this year could hardly be approximately estimated. North winds, late rains, blizzards, rust and weevil were all dreaded, and while some enthusiastically predicted a fair average yield, others were quite as ready to declare that crops would be a total failure. All sorts of rumors were afloat, but the general opinion seemed to be that the yield would be considerably below that of last year. No portion of the county, however, was believed to be in a worse condition than the Rancho Centinela, which is located about eight miles southwest of Los Angeles, a short distance from the sea coast. All agreed that the Centinela was out of the rain belt this year and crops must fail. This opinion was so widely circulated that few expected anything in the cereal line worthy of note, but in a few lines which follow we will show what a ranch in this county can do with a minimum rainfall. Last year, Mr D. Freeman, the gentleman managing this ranch, had an unusually fine crop, which he sold to the best advantage just as the grain market had almost touched the highest notch in prices.

The land is considered at present as valuable as any in Southern California for grain raising, although a few years ago the man who might have attempted grain raising on an extensive scale would have been scoffed at as a fool. The season just past, one of the driest on this ranch ever experienced, has shown conclusively what can be accomplished, and the following list of the acres in grain and the amount harvested, furnished us by a gentleman who has just returned from it, will give some idea of the productiveness of the land.

D. Freeman, principal lessee of the ranch, has cut this season 1400 acres of barley and wheat. He has one thrasher at work on the Centinela and one on the Rosecrans tract. Each is thrashing out 1100 sack a day. McLean Bros. have 300 acres in barley, all of which has turned out well. Sam Carson has cut 300 acres of barley, which when thrashed will make 3000 sacks of barley. J. E. Blacklan has cut 400 acres of barley. Flood & Son, 2,500 acres, all ready to thrash; Cecil Haight, 1,000 acres of barley; Jas. Root, 1,000 acres, nearly all in wheat; Wm. Newport, 1,400 acres of barley and wheat; Capt. Clark, 500 acres of barley; Mr. Van Wyck, 300 acres of barley; Newton & Son, 400 acres of barley; Mr. Cleghorn, 600 acres of barley; Mr. McMurty, 400 acres of barley; Wm. Lyster, 500 acres of barley; Chas. Courtright, 300 acres of barley. Besides the above, there are quite a number of smaller holdings, which will aggregate quite a large additional yield.

The average to the acre this year will be ten or twelve sacks, and the farmers say the yield is much better than that of last year. The grain is plumper and cleaner in every respect. Last year Mr. Freeman, who supplies the sacks, only purchased 33,000; this year he has already laid in a stock of 60,000, which will hardly prove sufficient; besides many of the farmers have sacks left over from last year.

The sacks will average 105 pounds of grain each, which is good weight, and taking it altogether, the showing made above will hardly be surpassed anywhere in the county. Los Angeles, as a grain-producing county, has only quite lately assumed any importance, but with the introduction of improved varieties and better cultivation there has followed an immense increase in acreage and improvement in quality and yield.

Wedding at Pasadena.

There was a pleasant gathering Tuesday at the residence of J. A. Blumve, Pasadena, the occasion being the wedding of N. C. Maher, of Los Angeles, and Miss Nellie Cox Barnes, of Ukiah, Mendocino county. The bridal party entered the parlor to the strains of a march, and after the brief and impressive ceremony by the Rev. Mr. Crawford, all repaired to to the dining-room and partook of a bountiful supply of good things. The bride looked charming in plum-colored satin trimmed with lace, and with orange blossoms in her hair and at her throat. J. A. Blumve stood up with the bridegroom, and Mrs. S. B. Montgomery, the bride's aunt, with the bride. The house was profusely decorated with flowers, and the wedding presents, which were both useful and ornamental, were tastefully arranged on a table. Among the presents was a silver spoon 140 years old, a needle-case 150 years old, and an embroidered sofa-cushion and embroidered apron about 50 years old, gifts of Miss Doty, of Ukiah. The happy couple departed for Los Angeles amid a shower of old shoes, and accompanied with best wishes for their happiness.

MADRE.

Wild Bill's Son.

Officer Botello had an exciting chase after a supposed deaf and dumb man yesterday afternoon. On Wednesday night the man struck another with an axe at a den in Sonoratown, and Botello had a warrant for his arrest. After chasing him two blocks Botello caught him and took him to the city prison. At the prison he miraculously recovered his hearing and speech. In Justice Morgan's Court, before which he was taken from the prison, he gave his name as James B. Hitchcock, son of Wild Bill of Minnesota. He pleaded guilty of assault with intent to commit murder, and was sentenced to 100 days or a fine of $100. As Wild Bill of Minnesota did not appear and put up the coin for the release of his offspring, the degenerate youth will have one hundred days for reflection in the city prison.

The Turners.

The Turnverein delegation to the Oakland Turn-Bezirk will arrive by steamer to-day. A delegation of the Turners from this city will meet them at the boat. It seems from telegraphic reports that Mr. Rudolph G. Weyse, of this city, won the first prize for swimming the distance of 1200 yards, being ahead of Mr. F. Spies, who won the second prize, 100 yards. Mr. Spies was ahead of the third competitor in the race three yards. The Turnverein, as a body, won the fourth prize in the second section for turning. The Turners of this city are much pleased at the great success of their delegation at Oakland.

Beaudry Heights.

One of the finest opportunities to inspect that portion of Los Angeles county which lies toward the ocean may be had from the ridge just above the Beaudry Park and reservoir. A superb view of orchards, vineyards, farms and gardens extending for miles in every direction, as well as the ocean and Catalina and Dead Man's Islands, may be had.

Oak Grove Tract.

Negotiations are now in progess to transfer the beautiful Oak Grove tract, between this city and Pasadena, to a company who will improve and fit it up for a cemetery. A new cemetery will be a necessity in a few years, and the location proposed is perhaps as well adapted to the purpose as any in the vicinity of the city.

A Rich Man's Estate.

The estate of the deceased Capt. A. H. Wilcox, in this county, consisted of notes and mortgages valued at 95,000, real estate valued at $84,000, stock in Los Angeles City Water Company, $27,000; stock in First National Bank, $10,000. He had also a large estate in San Diego county.

Pedestrian—Our Sidewalks.

To the Editor of the Times—SIR: We rise to explain and apologize for the bruised toes and hard, naughty words of our "Pedestrian" in a private talk to the editor of the TIMES. We Los Angeleños feel perfectly satisfied when we are graciously permitted to stumble along over the ups and downs on the sidewalks and stand erect. But this thing of ducking one's head, and crawling under a pine timber every few minutes, or of crossing the streets twice to go one block and then get one's new breeches spattered up with lime mortar and endanger his life in the crossing from fast-driving teamsters; and then, when he gets across, to find the sidewalk entirely blocked up, and is compelled to take to the middle of the street, and keep one eye in the back of his head to watch for breakers behind—with his heart in his mouth, thinking of the dear ones at home—possibly seen for the last time—expecting every minute some fast bronco to plant his fore feet square on top of his back. And then if he gets out safely and looks down at his spoiled pants, and thinks of a certain lecture he will get from that "dear loved one at home,"—we say when all this happens to a fellow, he—well—we soon get used to it. 'Tis nothing in a growing town like Los Angeles. You see?

Why! bless your soul, "Pedestrian," I guess you are a stranger in these parts. You forget we have no City Council or police! The town simply runs itself. Now if we had a City Council to manage this thing for us, we might have another street-car track on Main street. We ought to have three or four. No room for teams? Oh! let the teams stay outside the city limits—no business here!

You say by having no police or City Council to bother, the builders can then take up all the street with their rubbish and let the stores "shut up shop" and teams and things go to some other street. And if one is afraid of the brickbats showering down on his head from three-story buildings, he must either wear a stiff plug hat or carry a parasol.

You see, stranger, if you lived in a town of progress you would soon get used to all this.

POSTAL DELIVERY.

One Hundred Applicants for Letter Carrier's Positions.

The interior of the Postoffice yesterday had the appearance of having been struck by a mild stroke of lightning. Postmaster Dunkelberger's private office was demolished, desks occupied different positions than of old, and there were suggestions of a visit from the Civil Service Commission. Nothing of the kind had happened, however, as the Postmaster's smiling countenance sufficiently attested.

"Good morning, sir, just give me your name, sir, and I'll put it in with the rest of the applicants. Not an applicant? Great Scott! Why, I thought every able-bodied man in town wanted to be a letter-carrier and wear a Government uniform. Oh, you want news, do you? Well, you see I am arranging for the free delivery. I am making more room here, and have taken out my private office. I have not decided where I will place the carriers' desks. The desks you see are put here now because there is plenty of light."

"Have you received official notification?"

"Yes. The order is to make room for eight men, but I will put only five on now."

"How many have applied for the position of letter-carrier?"

"There are one hundred applicants, already. I will send all their names on to Washington to-morrow, and recommend five of them for appointment. I have made up my mind on three of them, and on the other two I have not fully decided."

"Have you ordered the mail boxes yet?"

"Fifty boxes have been ordered, and twenty-five will be placed in position immediately. The others will be put up as they are needed. It will take time to get the service to working smoothly, after which the office work will be relieved. At present the office is blocked by the mail every day, and three clerks can scarcely do the work. When the carriers have mastered their duties I expect to get along in the office with two delivery clerks, instead of three.

Property for Investment.

5 Acres in East Los Angeles, one square from Downey avenue, beautifully situated for residences, and well adapted to the growth of any and all the productions of Southern California; set to trees and small fruits; apples, pears, peaches, plums, lemons, oranges, apricots, etc., etc., raspberries, blackberries, etc.; splendid well and windmill, water, hot and cold, in the house, which is a neat cottage of six rooms, hard finished, good barn, hennery, etc., all lies under the East-side ditch, and can be irrigated without difficulty; fronts on two streets and is very suitable for dividing into lots. The property is well worth the price asked, and six months hence, at the present rate of advance, will be worth much more, even on speculation. $6500.

15 Acres, or 30 acres, or if desired, 45 acres, ½ mile outside the city limits, particularly adapted to grapes. This property set to vineyard and two years old, would be worth $250 per acre. It is all fenced, and is a most desirable property for the price, $125 per acre.

360 Acres, 65 miles from Los Angeles, 200 acres of which is flat land and suitable for fruit or farming purposes, 100 acres corn land, five acres in alfalfa; good water; house of six rooms; first-class market for everything that can be raised; is a choice location for a stock ranch and in connection with government land adjoining, will feed 500 head of stock. To any one who does not wish to be close to the city, this offers a rare chance for such a business. $2500.

160 Acres, 100 acres can be ploughed, fine dark, rich loam, not cleared, about 1000 cords of wood growing on it; convenient to city; one of the very best locations in the county for early vegetables, tropical fruits, apricots, etc., no improvements, a sulphur spring on the tract. $3000.

320 Acres, neat house of 4 rooms, small shed barn, 70 apricot trees, 47 stands of bees, honey extractor, etc., 1500 cords of wood, within convenient distance of the city. Admirably adapted to the growth of early vegetables, tropical fruits, etc; a fine spring of water on the land.

This is the cheapest piece of land in the Duarte, and the price will be given only to those who are looking for land on which to settle.
